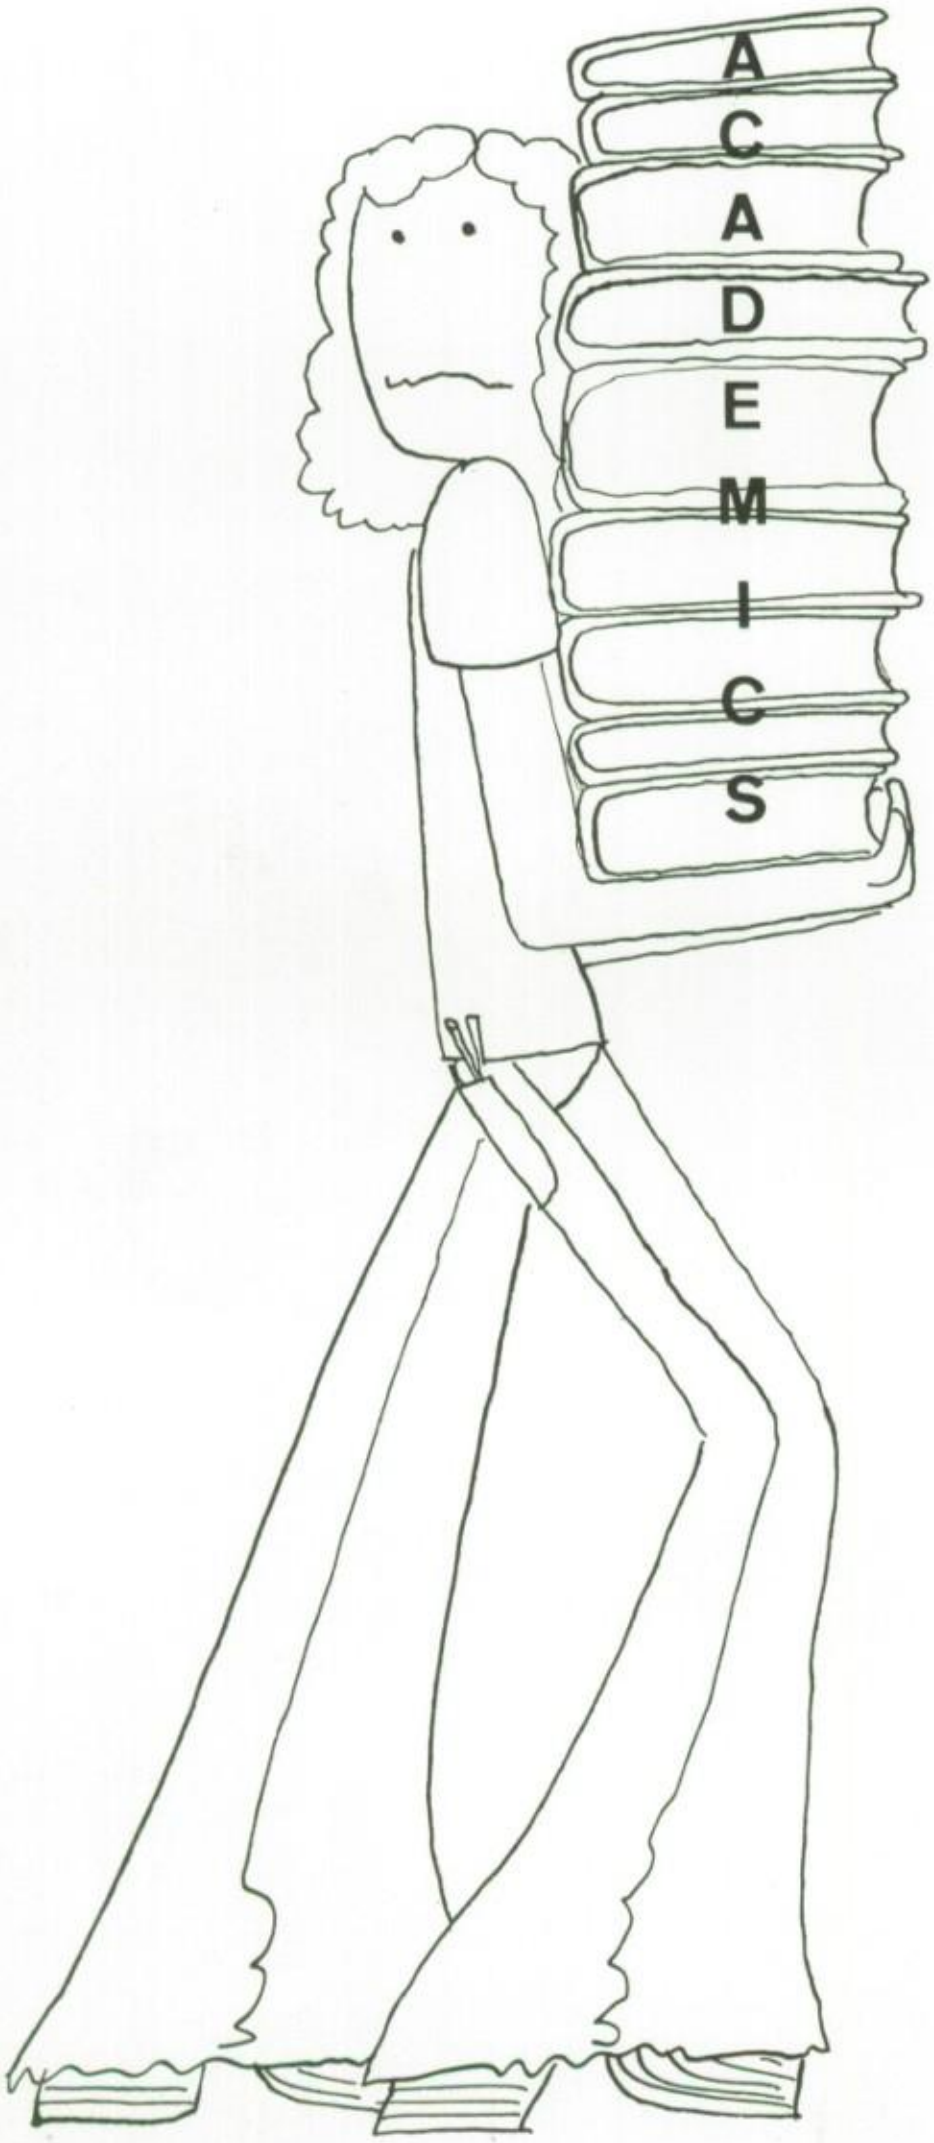
Transition is the key word for the fast-paced world of today. Some changes we undergo are major and abrupt while others can be slow and imperceptable.

The staff of Scope 1975 hopes to point out how minimal our time in school is. We wish to convey the memories of our year, so that you may remember how it was, and recall the way you were.



ACADEMICS

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

All students at Roy-Hart are required to take English. A basic working knowledge of our language is taught, including composition, grammar, vocabulary, and rhetoric. Students participate in class-room plays and debates.

Students from Humanities class took a field trip to the Albright Knox Art Gallery. In the spring, students attended a live production at Studio Arena Theatre. Journalism classes took field trips to the Buffalo Evening News and the Medina Journal.

1. Miss Seaman seems pleased with one of her English students. 2. The Resource Room provides time and space for fun as well as studying. 3. Kathy Tiefel looks slightly dissatisfied with her Journalism.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

Students in Social Studies classes study many aspects of history from the required American and World History to senior electives including Advanced Economics, Comparative Religions, and Problems of Democracy.

In December, Sociology classes went to Niagara Falls to view the movie "The Trial of Billy Jack." Students in this class also made surveys from opinions of the townspeople and fellow students. The Comparative Religions class welcomed speakers from the Mormon, Jewish, Methodist, and Jehovah's Witness faiths.

1. Sandy Licata is amused by one of Mr. Gould's perceptive comments. 2. Mr. Voss reminisces about his childhood in Henrietta. 3. Mr. Ramming isn't going to buy that excuse for a late paper.

MATHEMATICS

This year's wide variety of mathematical courses range from grade 7 to calculus. Mathematics help to instigate better thinking and help in one's future careers.

1. Bob Wendler struggles through Trig. 2. Mrs. Newton makes an action-packed point in her Math lesson.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

New improvements in the Biology course are taking place this year. Mr. Arnold and Mr. Day alternate daily teaching. While one is teaching the other prepares curriculum for the class and gives additional help to those who need it.

Labs are given in Biology, Chemistry and Physics courses where the principles explained in class are demonstrated.

1. David Darroch discovers the intricacies of an electric motor. 2. Nerea Sharpsteen learns that if you can read those topographic maps that Mr. McKinney hands out in Earth Science, your profession should be navigation! 3. Karl Otsa isn't always so friendly when it comes to helping a person out with Biology lab questions. 4. David Orlando creating wonderful concoctions in Chemistry class.

SPRACHE

La Langue est la foundation sur laquelle l'entendement est basé.

La abilidad de conversar en lanquas diferentes extiende la percpcion de la vida.

LANGUAGE

Language is the foundation of which understanding is based.

Ones ability to converse in different languages broadens ones perceptions of life.

1. Sugako Yamamoto really knows about foreign languages — English isn't very easy to learn!! 2. Robin Ideus recites her German lesson.

BUSINESS

The Business Department prepares students for the business world by teaching them secretarial and clerical skills. Typing, Distributive Education, Business Law, Office Practice, and Bookkeeping are a few of the many courses offered by the Business Department. Students learn the fundamentals of office life, operating office machines, dictating, and other aspects associated with today's office environment.

1. A pencil seems to help Darcy Christ's concentration on her work. 2. Edna Carroll does some speed work in Typing class. 3. And at 60 w.p.m. — Diane Kelkenberg. 4. Judy Lyons uses her Office Practice skills to run the ditto machine.

4

1. Albone, Sprout, and Huntington give "Chicago" a run for the money. 2. "I think I see headlights in there", muses Mr. Cavers. 3. Michael Darroch is a little anxious about not knowing his music.

3

MUSIC AND ART

Creative expression is the basic goal of the Music and Art Departments. The many electives and opportunities offered by both departments have provided students with a wide field for individual expression. Fieldtrips and opportunities for enrichment have become a major part of the two productive departments. Such trips have been to Albright Knox Art Gallery and the Eastman School of Music, where students furthered their interests.

4. "My goodness, look what I did to my finger!" 5. Karyn Patterson, Hazlitt Krog, and Dan Medoff have a consultation in Art class. 6. It's a good thing Mondays come only once a week . . .

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

The Industrial Arts Department provides the knowledge necessary for students to operate this technological world of ours. Through such courses as Metal Shop, Mechanical Drawing, Electrical Shop, and Wood Shop, students receive the fundamentals of technical skills. These skills become more necessary as technology's base broadens.

1. If you are mechanically minded, everything is easy. 2. Forgeing on the anvil. 3. Using the T-square in Mechanical Drawing.

AGRICULTURE

As technology changes farming methods at a rapid pace, it becomes necessary for a wide base of agricultural knowledge. The Agricultural Department teaches students many of the fundamentals used in today's farming methods. Curriculum of the Agriculture Department has included Non-Vocational Agriculture, Agriculture Mechanics, and Agriculture Production and Management. Students are encouraged to learn many of the technical skills, which have become a major part of farm production today.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Driver education equips students with a better responsibility as a driver. Indoor instructions as well as actual outdoor driving contributes to the experience of students. Laws and traffic defense are a must to know, along with how to operate the cars.

1. Mr. Barth greets a student. 2. Cora Pittler and Mr. Barth are glad to be driving today.

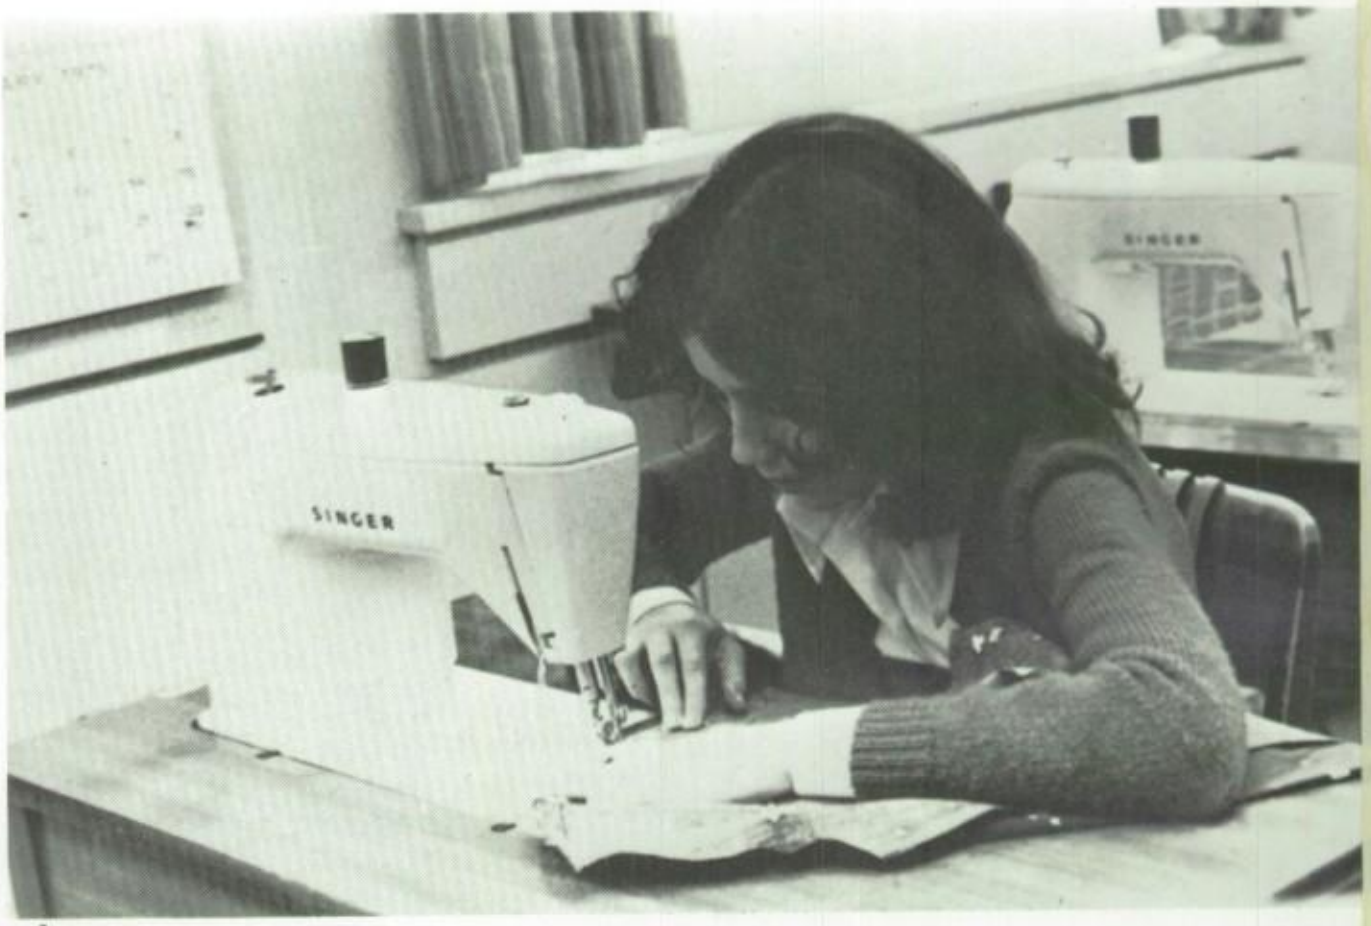
HOME ECONOMICS

A stitch in time saves money! Areas ranging from the practical to the creative, such as cooking, caring for children, and decorating are offered in Home Economics.



1

1. Becky Reale struggles with another seam. 2. So what are Carol Rowe and Barb Rosseau doing now??!! 3. "Where's the flour?" asks Donna Ficarra, but Nancy Schumacher doesn't know either.

2

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

The Physical Education Department provides students with fun and excitement by encouraging them to participate in a variety of sports and activities. Through such mind-inspiring sports as bombardment, students increase their physical proficiency while learning to work in and outside the team.

1. Another boy's gym class. Don't break your neck!! 2. Hugh Durdan, is it really you??

READING

In the field of education, reading is the most basic skill. Students with good reading scores in vocabulary and comprehension are well on their way towards achievement in their academic endeavors. In reading classes, the good readers advance toward maximum attainment in vocabulary and comprehension with scores of 12.9 . Students having difficulty in specific skill areas are given prescribed assistance to aid them in their school studies.

1

2

1. The more studious side of Roy Glazer. 2. Guess that homework got to be too much for Amy Foster. 3. Is that the latest bestseller or a required reading that you're so absorbed in?

1

RESOURCE ROOM

The resource room gives students the opportunity to get "extra" help. Students are allowed to go there and work anytime of the day.

1. If that answer isn't in your American History book, you might try a current magazine, like Gene Newman.
2. The Resource Room isn't always for studying.

CHARLES H. PORTER, Supervising Principal

EDWARD H. SANDERSON, Junior-Senior High School Principal

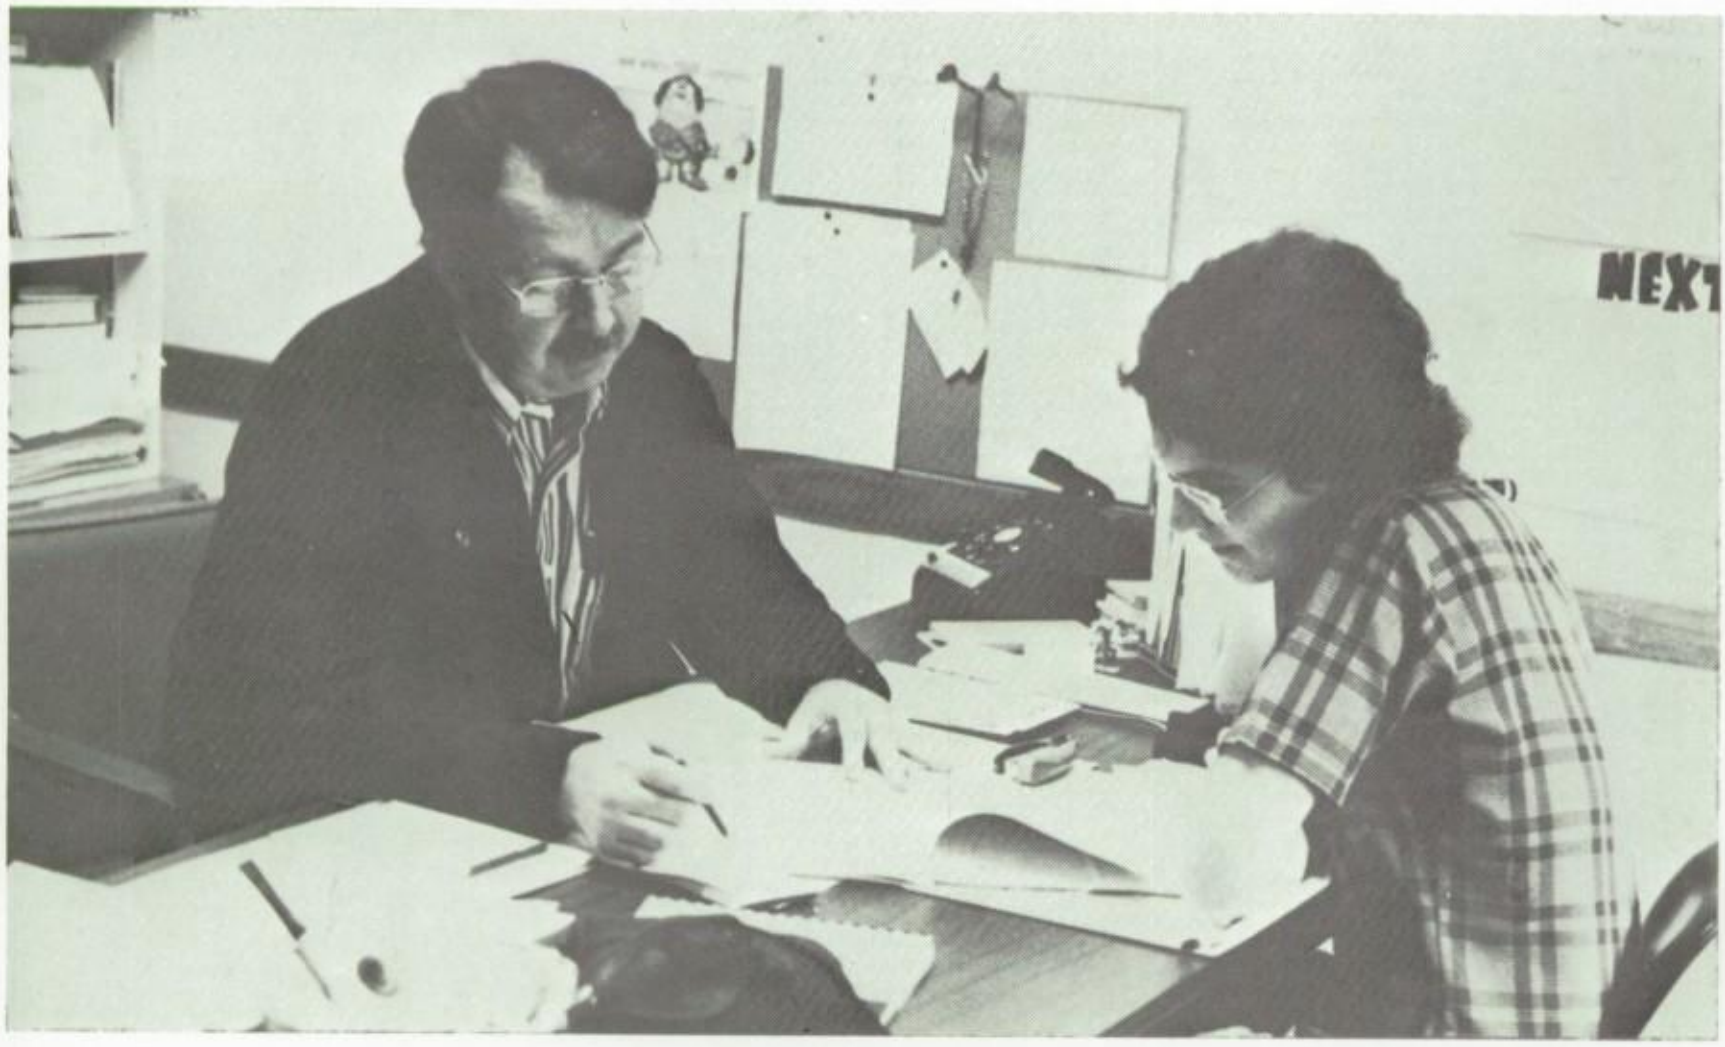
ROBERT W. GALBREATH, Assistant High School Principal

ROBERT T. KILPATRICK, Business Administrator and Clerk

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Front Row: Mr. Norman C. Braun, Jr., Mr. James L. Perry, President, Mr. Lauri D. Belliveau, Mr. Edward J. McCabe, Vice-President

Second Row: Mr. Jesse D. Elsenheimer, Dr. Ronald E. Montgomery, Mr. Herbert G. Pauley



Mr. Galbreath helps Hazlitt Krog.

LIBRARY

It's a bit nerve-racking here with so many people (it gets NOISY sometimes), but there's so much more — this library has changed so much. Back issue periodicals are on microfilm so I can always get the one I need (a far cry from those asked-for but never received magazines). There is a whole new variety of magazines, including "Ms", and "Psychology Today." There is a wide new selection of books — everything from Carlos Casteneda to Frances FitzGerald, "The White House Tapes" to the "Feminine Mystique". Things have changed since the days when libraries were "just books". This is a "Library Media Center" with all types of media available for use by students and faculty. This is a library for all.

1. There's nothing like a friendly librarian (Mr. Burkett) when you can't find that book you need for your Sociology paper. 2. There's Pat Bridge studying!

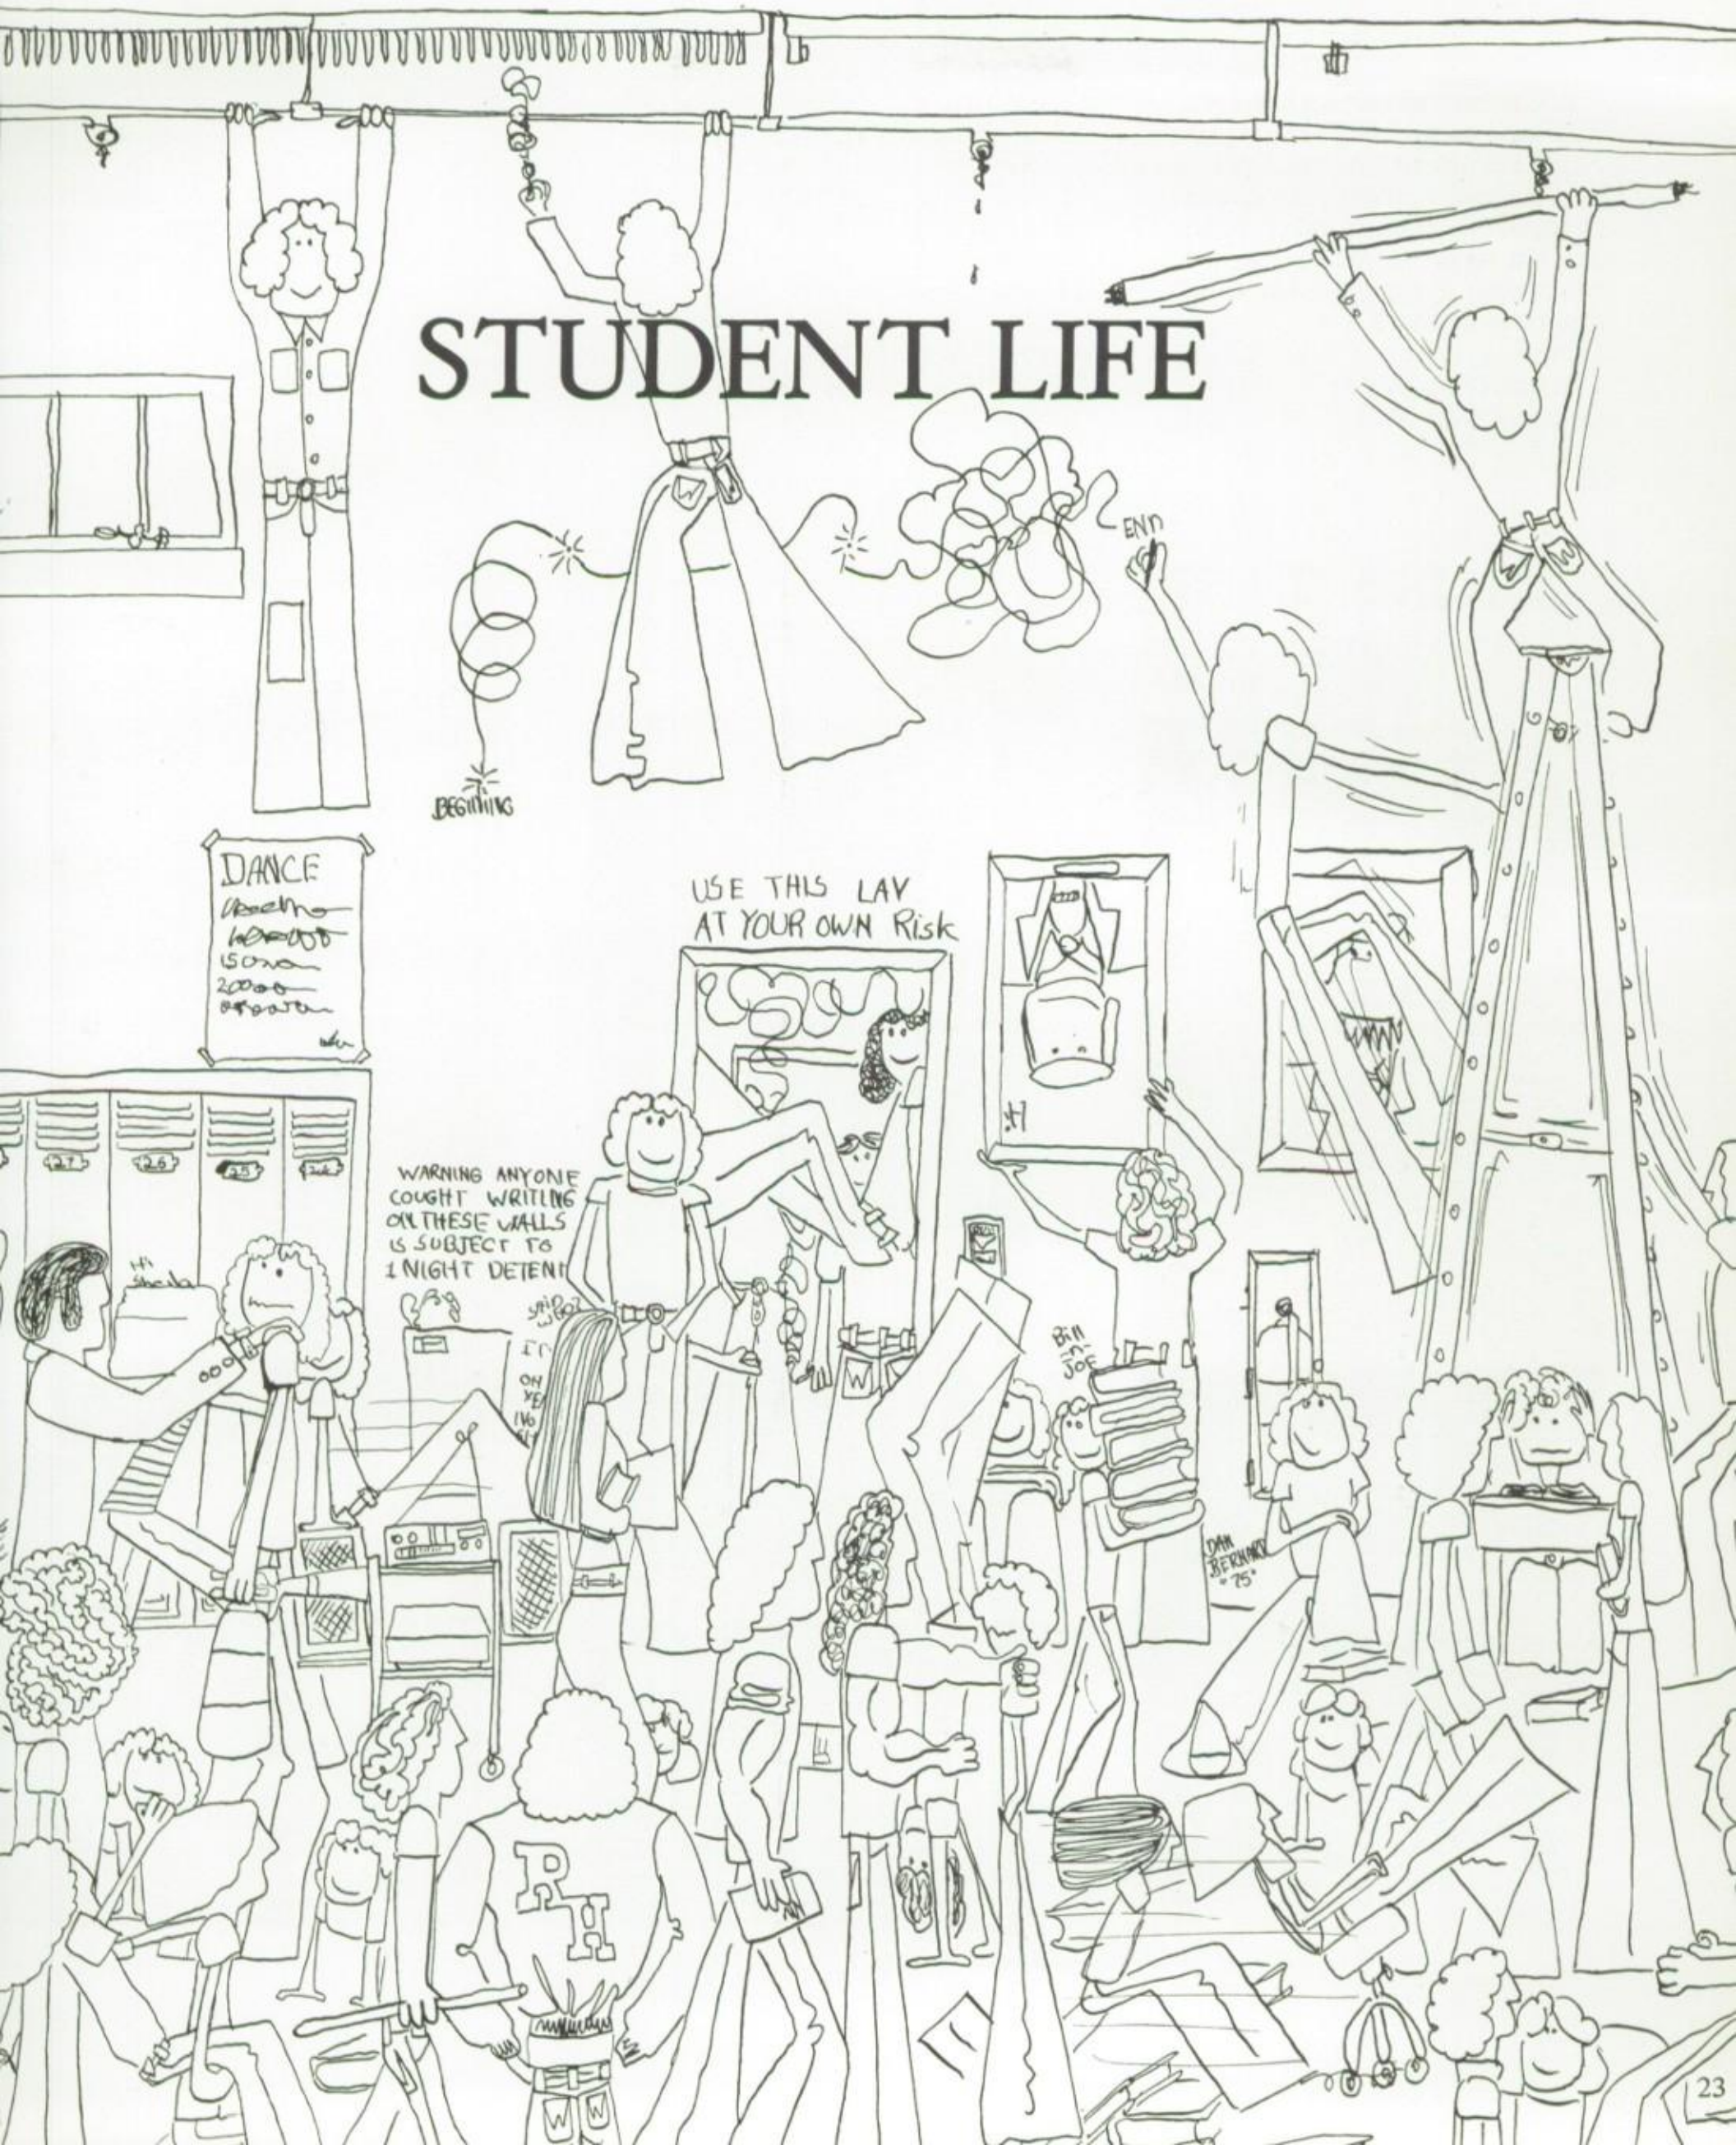
STUDENT LIFE



Being a student at Roy-Hart is a crazy business. It's a hodge-podge mix of 1200 students, ages 12 to 18, being directed through their "academic development". Just what do these students do when not studying? They:

walk around joke talk contemplate argue eat sleep complain and just generally enjoy themselves.

1. Looking up at Karl Otsa. 2. Karen Yoder is intent upon her letter. 3. A convival bunch in Mr. Granchelli's room. 4. Roy Glazer in a pensive mood. 5. Suzann Rice smiles to brighten up the day.

3

4

HOMECOMING

Roy-Hart experienced one of its most successful Homecomings in 1974. To make the school "as one", Dress-up, Dress-down, and a 50's day were set, with balloting for the King and Queen capping the festivities. Halls were decorated with banners and steamers (the Freshmen won the hall contest) and fun was had by all.

Some scenes from the popular 50's Day: 1. Mike Chellino and Kevin Brinkey prove that rock-and-roll never dies! 2. Tim Durfy moans the loss of a guitar string. 3. "What the Fonz says, goes!" (Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Goehle) 4. It's bobby socks and saddle shoes for the well-dressed coed (Barb Bower and Pat Maynard).

3

JUST FOOLING AROUND

Caught in a moment of relaxation: 1. Mary Casson and Richard Patterson look like they are enjoying the assembly while 2. Geoff McKee and Esther Gormley talk before a class. 3. There is nothing like a little serious work at Roy-Hart. 4. Mr. Larson totes around his Sousaphone. 5. Jeff McMullen enjoys a sunny day. 6. Chris Ramming in repose.

1

3

4

5

"OPEN CAFETERIA"

Students lucky enough to have a Study Hall during a period when lunch is not in session can enjoy "Open Cafeteria". Coffee, tea, and milk can be bought (not to mention donuts), with the pop machine provided courtesy of Student Council. The Senior stereo provides background music. It's a nice place to spend your free time.

1. There's excitment when the new ECHO comes out. 2. It's hard to decide what to buy. 3. Mark Milliman has decided on a jelly-filled donut. 4. Anna Koch and friends take a break from school work. 5. Bill Pritchard is intent upon his card playing.

3

WHAT TO WEAR?

What does the average Roy-Hart student wear? Jeans, of course. Jeans with T-shirts (with logos like "Summerfest", "Greatful Dead", and "Rock 102"), with flannelshirts, workshirts — you name it, and you'll see it around here somewhere. Some people don't wear jeans (you even see a skirt now and then) and it is interesting to see what they come up with.

Patti Swift 1. steals a scene from "Glamour" while Dennis Webber 2. opts for snazziness. Some people have a wilder fasion sense 3. i.e. Mr. Gould, while others just play it casual 4. like Barb Gillings. 5. Hazlitt Krog sticks to the "uniform" of the student-jeans.

3

LUNCH . . .

LUNCH is everybody's favorite subject. Whether it's exclaiming over the food ("Wow — green icing!") or catching up on conversation, lunch is never dull. Besides, if the talk isn't interesting, maybe you will be the LUCKY WINNER of a near-hit brownie (or tiny tater) by the head!

1. Lunch can be a duo-purpose affair; both writing and eating, as this sophomore is doing. 2. Some people carry on absorbing conversations, like Patti Swift with Helena Otsa in rapt attention. 3. Dan Bernard says it all. 4. Terri Galligan expresses surprise at the state of her fork while 5. Judy Neace wishes she had bought a second dessert.

3

STUDYING

From all the previous pictures, some people might get the idea that studying takes a backseat to a lot of other activities at Roy-Hart. Well, 95% of a student's time is spent in the classroom, and we do work.

1. Dan Bernard, again. 2. Tim Staples does some last minute studying, while Ron LePard 3. takes homework out of his locker. Sierra Woods 4. works industriously.

3

SPRING

It's spring, and a student's fancy turns towards dreams (and vacation). 1. The courtyard before dismissal and 2. the mad rush to Easter vacation. 3. There is nothing like putting your feet up after a long day and enjoying a pipe (but in Mr. Galbreath's office!!??).

1

3

1

3

"It's been six years since I've been in seventh grade, and the memories are a little hazy". But there are several hundred students at Roy-Hart still in "that stage" (Junior High) and it was an interesting day that this photographer had following a seventh grader around. The next two pages are devoted to what she saw.

1. Bill Whittaker's smile shows that being in 7th grade isn't all that bad. 2. Lora Brown and Lori Brooks work hard during a Math test. 3. They don't make chairs and desks for 7th graders like they use to! 4. The questioning face of a seventh grader. 5. "So you see, in changing quarts to gallons, you must use my theory, and . . ." 6. "Would you run through that Math problem again?!" 7. Those science labs are rough!

Sooner or later, a student is going to meet up with that friendly face in 104 - Mr. Kreutz. When he hands you that pass back to class, he really means it!

Junior activities and experiences branched out in many different directions this year. Like 1 & 2. Janet Brooks and Cherie March helping to make Roy-Hart's first all-out homecoming a success. 3. Ken Quakenbush sets a new precedent in the art field, while 4. Tammy Tinder takes a moment to do some last minute studying. 5. Mark D'Amico is overwhelmed by it all. 6. Marianne Elsenheimer, David Huntington, and Denise Hausman experienced the bite of inflation. The price of gold sky-rocketed, so the new class rings were made of silver. They liked them anyway.

Room 107 is a traditional student haven. There is always something interesting going on. You can 1. get engrossed in listening to Mr. Granchelli, like John Bell is doing, or 2. work on a multitude of projects, like Connie Smith. And, last but not least, there is always mirth in joking with your friends 3. (William Sattelberg and John Schwab).

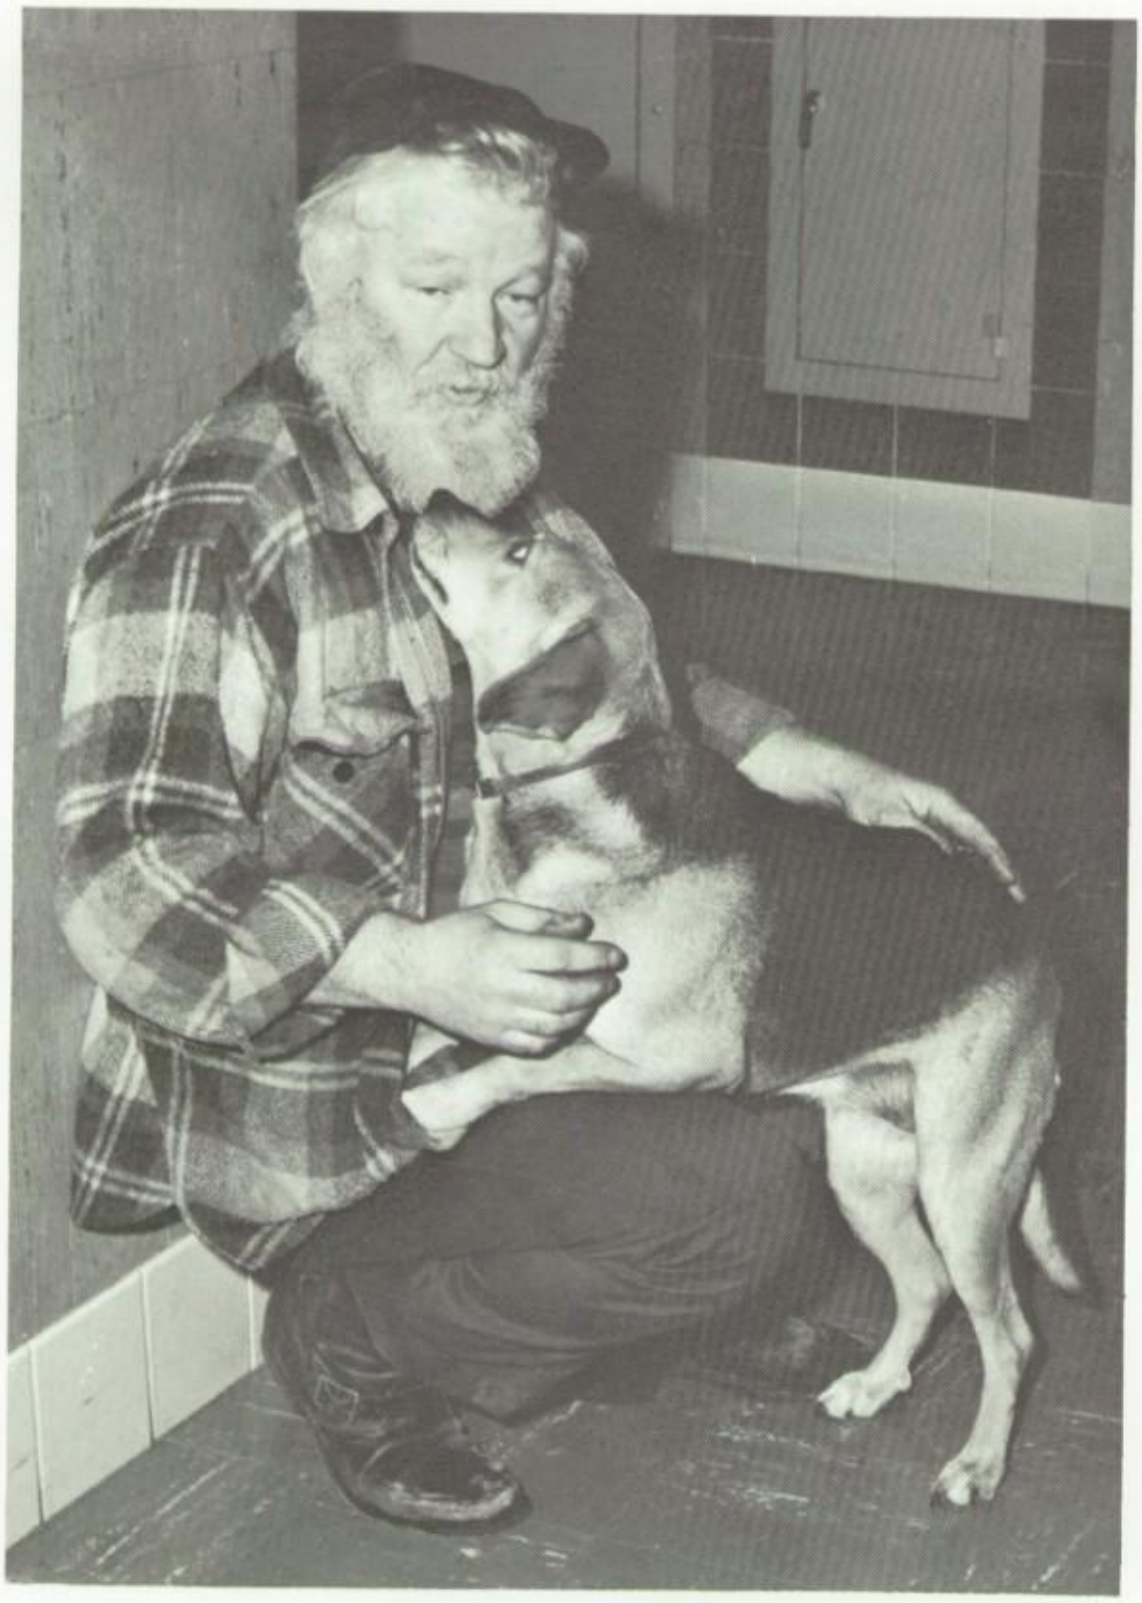
IN MEMORY OF

MRS. GAYLE LARSON

GWENDOLYN PELT



Unique personalities emerge infrequently. No one way of life, job or profession produces these rare people; we can only recognize, appreciate, applaud and be grateful for their existence. The yearbook staff dedicates the 1975 Scope to Mr. Max Cumberledge, an exceptional man.

My Friend

Mr. Max is very nice, talented. He's a good janitor & bet he could be an actor. He fixes pencil sharpeners, too. He plows the sidewalk. I bet he likes pork chops. He reminds me of Santa Claus with his beard.

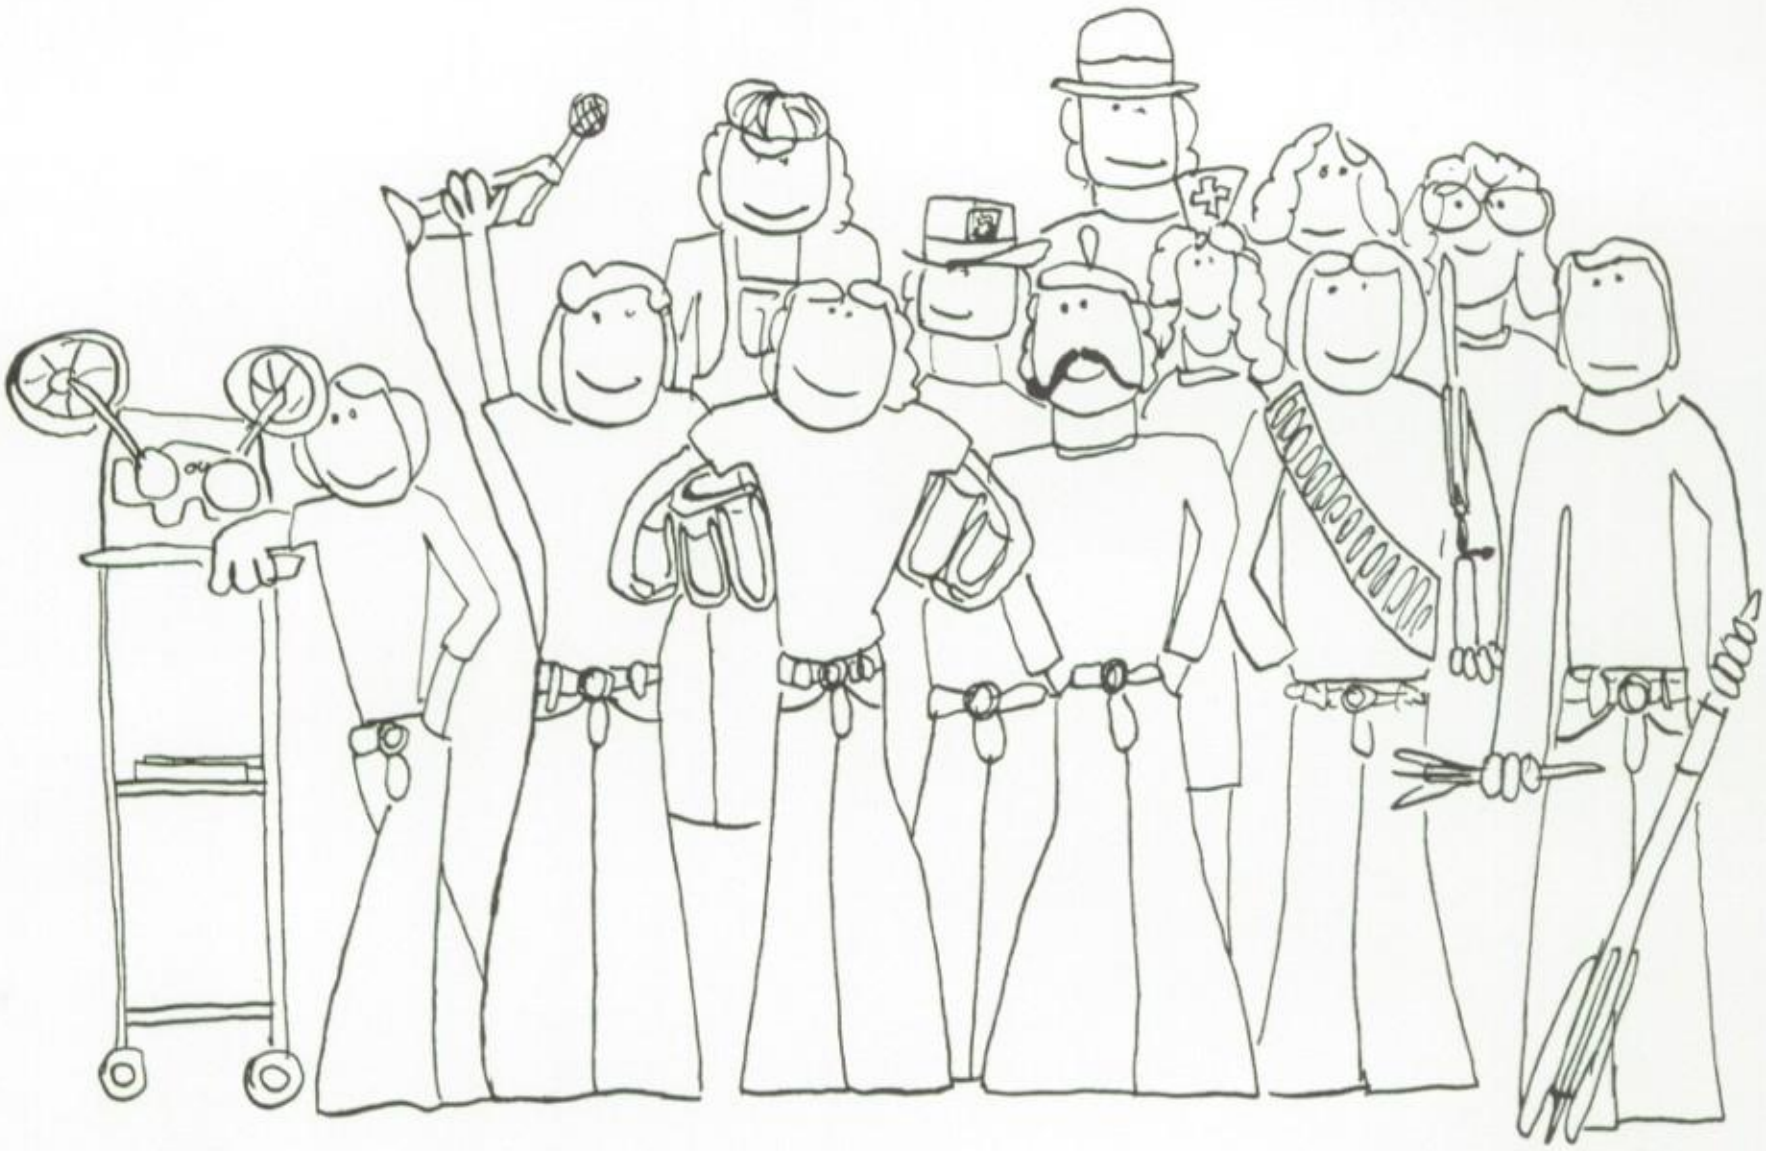
ACTIVITIES



PRESS CLUB

"Where's that layout, if I lose one more thing I'll . . ." these and other expressions of frustration, surprise, and sometimes humor can be heard if you chance to wander by room 312 any day from September to March. This signifies that Press Club, amidst the silent grumbles of art students, has once again invaded Mr. Cooper's room and gone to work on another Scope.

Press Club members can be divided into 3 general categories: these being layout, copy, and photo. Layout people, armed with a pica ruler and numerous sheets of pink paper, ponder out such problems as how to fit 9 senior pictures on 1 page. Copy people work with the words. These persons are faced with the insuperable-how-not-to sound too cute, corny, sarcastic, colloquial, etc. Photo is self-explanatory. No matter where you are or what you're doing — trig in the cafeteria, a dive into the pool, or telling stories in 104 — photo will get you someday. And there you are, a 3x5 black and white glossy in the student life section.

Press Club members get together for another work session.

STUDENT COUNCIL

This year, Student Council has expanded its interests from a club of parliamentary procedure, to one of dynamic school involvement. As Sue Walthew, President of Student Council said, "This year's goal is to once again be an organization with some meaning and potential, working for the betterment of the school and community."

The success of Homecoming put Student Council well on its way to achieving its goal, as we witnessed unprecedented school participation and camaraderie. Other Student Council successes have been Student Government Day and the elimination of the bell system.

ECHO

An important asset of any school is a school newspaper. Roy-Hart is fortunate to have the ECHO. This interesting and provocative publication is printed eight times a year. Students of Journalism class learn the fundamentals of lay-outs, article writing, proofreading, news photography and how to operate the strip printer.

Up to sixty upperclassmen apply their knowledge when creating each issue. ECHO features sports items, editorials, club news, and almost anything else related to student or school activities.

Mrs. Brown, ECHO adviser, says of working on the newspaper, "It's interesting, but time consuming." She says of students who must check for slander and fairplay, "I think they are quite responsible."

1. Lynette sets up articles on the dummy copy. 2. Debbie Konscol can see the lighter side of journalism, but Paula Kovach isn't quite sure.

LIBRARY CLUB

The members of Library Club learn the basics of library management. Students in this club work at least one period a week in the library, doing many jobs including carding and shelving books, alphabetizing cards, and signing out books. Library Club members have taken a field trip to the Buffalo and Erie County Public Libraries, where they saw a large library being run. They have also organized a paperback book fair and sale of older library books.

WRITER'S CLUB

Mrs. Mary Rose Copeland,
Mr. James Cooper,
co-advisers

The Writer's Club is a group of students with an interest in writing or in other facets of art creations. They are responsible for the annual production of Soundings. Soundings is the school literary magazine composed entirely of contributions from the student body. This year the club had hoped to expand the breadth of the magazine by extending its works into the elementary school. The staff is responsible for collecting and editing all the material that is submitted.

"The staff works hard to put it in a publishable condition," stated Mrs. Copeland. The end result of all this student talent is a diversified collection of poetry, prose, photography and other visual arts. The club members then distribute the magazine which is usually well-received in the community.

MEDICAL CAREERS CLUB

Mrs. Patricia Smith, Adviser

. . . Dolly Madison Cupcake Squad to the rescue! While not all aspects of this club are comical, their entry in the Homecoming Parade this year captured a lot of laughs and first prize with its not too-subtle satire on the Health Office. The main objective of this group is to learn first aid so that emergencies can be met competently. Club members also aid with the immunization clinics, athletic and school physicals, and are responsible for the collection and distribution of Christmas baskets to needy families in the area. This year, 29 such baskets filled with food, clothing, and small gifts were taken and given away. At the end of the year, the Wendy Wollenberg watch is awarded to the senior member of the club who is pursuing a career in nursing that proves to be most deserving. A most enlightening club — it is open to any, who are considering a, you guessed it, medical career!

ROYALTON-HARTLAND DRAMA CLUB

Miss Carol Lenhardt, Adviser

The Drama Club is now the combined efforts of what were formerly two separate groups — Children's Theatre and Drama Club.

The members plan the program for their monthly meetings where they concentrate mainly on the theory of drama as opposed to merely coming together to rehearse for a major production. The group works on exercises, vocal projection, theatre games, improvisations, skits, original plays and play writing — all vital experiences to those who hope to learn about and develop their skills in dramatics. This group is the one to be reckoned with by any and all prospective thespians.

SIA

Students In Action's purpose is "to work as the action arm of the student body, and to initiate ideas and projects for the benefit of the school." Concerned students in tenth to twelfth grade make up this organization. The group has submitted its constitution and now hopes to better our school in any way possible.

FFA

Future Farmers of America teach members modern agricultural methods while promoting parliamentary procedure and citizenship. The organization aids prospective agrarians by discussing the business, crop, and other aspects of farm production. The activities of FFA have included a grapefruit and orange sale. Money raised is used for such fieldtrips as going to see a tractor pull in Canada.

AFS with DIANE KOPP

Students and teachers welcomed Diane Kopp, from Le Sueur, Minnesota — "the Valley of the Jolly Green Giant" to Roy-Hart for three months. Diane participated in the American Field Service Domestic Exchange Program, which gives high school students the opportunity to live and attend school in a different part of their own country. She attended school from September until the end of November.

During her stay in the area, she visited many memorable places including Niagara Falls, Letchworth State Park, Fort Niagara, Toronto, and the Albright-Knox Gallery in Buffalo.

Diane feels that her experiences as an exchange student — meeting new people, making new friends, living with her host family, have taught her a truer meaning of love, sharing and responsibility. She believes that the time spent here has given her a new sense of confidence in herself.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB

The Audio-Visual Club gets the wheels rolling in the morning by delivering projectors, record players, tape recorders and other needed equipment. If the teacher wishes, members will also operate the equipment. At the day's end, the club also provides the service of picking up materials and machines.

Besides this, they set and run the sound booth and lighting panel for assemblies. Their services are greatly needed and appreciated by all.

RETAILING CLUB

Members of Retailing Club put much effort into operating and maintaining one of Roy-Hart's finest assets — The Book Store. The services performed by the retailer's include creating window displays, keeping shelves stocked by taking inventory, running the cash register, and cooperating with every customer. The Book Store, under Retailing Club's direction, is greatly appreciated by all those who attend Roy-Hart.

RIFLE CLUB

Mr. Randall Gilbert,
Mr. Robert Querns,
co-advisers

This is the club with caliber! Members of the Rifle Club are well versed in gun safety and handling before they begin target practice where they strive for proficiency in scoring. Members are allowed to use their own weapons or one of the 4 .22 rifles that the Army has loaned to our school. The club meets weekly to practice or host guest speakers, who speak on assorted guns and their uses. The two chief aims of this group are completion of the construction of the firing range in the fall-out shelter beneath the pool, and eventually interscholastic competition when the members become more skilled and attain sharper sights!

Roy-Harts airraid shelter becomes a rifle range as club members Tom White, Steve Smith, and Darcy Crist get in a little practice.

FRENCH CLUB

French Club members have worked many years, and are about to succeed in their goal, a trip to Quebec. To raise money for the trip, the French-Speaking students have sold candy, perfume, cheese, and have had several bake sales.

The club has also gone to swank French Restaurants, seen plays, and helped students go to France. Members also enjoy spirited meetings where future plans are discussed.

Through the club's fieldtrips, partying, and many other activities, the members hope to learn more about the cultural aspects of French-speaking peoples.

SPANISH CLUB

Spanish club at present has a fine outlook for the future. Our objective is to become better acquainted with the culture of the different Spanish-speaking countries. We are looking forward to an excursion to Spain, possibly next year. Some of our projects to raise money for this have been a very successful cheese sale before Christmas, and a not so successful bakesale. Our adviser, Christine Pifer (also the Spanish teacher) is hopeful that this will work out, as she visited Spain two years ago for two months. Maybe we'll make it someday, which should prove interesting.

YORKERS

The Yorkers travel frequently on field trips to museums. The annual Cooperstown visit is the highlight of our year, which, incidentally, is the only overnight trip among Roy-Hart groups. Book reports and individual projects create a balance of work and pleasure for the young historians.

OFFICE AIDES

Students who help in the offices of Roy-Hart not only succeed in doing necessary jobs, but also gain the experience of an office environment. The Guidance and High School offices enjoy the aid of these students who are constantly filing schedule cards, making announcements, locating information, writing out slips and forms, running errands, and many other miscellaneous tasks. Working during study halls, the office aides must take on many responsibilities, which includes working with everyone.

SCIENCE CLUB

Roy-Hart's junior high students who have an interest in the various fields of science, can further their interests by joining Science Club. Under the direction of Mr. Allyn Kain, members can discuss problems related to science. Since experiments are a major part of the young scientist's club, members are encouraged to participate in the annual Science Fair held in the spring.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

This year was a rough season for the Varsity basketball team. The team had a won-1 lost-17 season. When asked what the team's major problem was this year, Coach March felt that it was the team's lack of experience. The top scorers for the team were the Co-Captains, Randy McCloy and Steve Szklany who led the team in rebounds.

J.V. BASKETBALL

This year, the Junior Varsity basketball team broke even, with 9 wins and 9 losses.

The Co-captains Jim Cleary and Marty Wilson led many games with rebounds and baskets. When asked about the season, Coach Jamieson said, "It was a rewarding season because I enjoyed working with the group on the team. The team now has some weight under its belt and will be on the upward movement in the future years."

It was a trying year for the wrestlers, but it could have been better. There was good individual effort by each wrestler, considering that they were a young team made up of mostly Sophomores and Juniors.

The most improved wrestler was Chris Merkle. The most valuable wrestler was Mike Connette. The best wrestler on the team for League Sectionals was David Huntington, and for Sectionals it was Doug Huntington.

Next year should be even better than this year because all the lettermen are returning except Mike Connette.

The Swim Team consisted of mostly Freshmen and Sophomores, therefore, it was a building-up year for them. Mrs. Fuller stated, "I saw improvement in everyone, and we had a very strenuous year." Ed Steblein was the most valuable swimmer, and he broke the school record with the 500 yard free style. The top swimmers who had the most points were Ed Steblien with 260, Dave Balcerzak with 220, and Dave Ward with 203. The most improved swimmers were Ken Keirn and Hazlitt Krog. Since the Swim Team is only losing one senior, Darryl Swan, they should have a better year next year.

Coach: Miss Uhlman

The season began on October 21 and ran through the 19th of December. This was the first interscholastic girl's sport that Roy-Hart competed in.

The Varsity team was very young, with two seniors and six juniors. "Even though the record was 0-6 it was a year of growing, as Roy-Hart has never played much volleyball," said Miss Uhlman, coach.

Sugako Yamamoto deserves recognition, as she added skill and enjoyment to all who played with her.

GIRL'S JV VOLLEYBALL

Coach: Mrs. Fiedler

This sport was a new experience for all who participated. The JV's showed great interest in playing, and greatly improved their skill as the season progressed. Some games, although losing, were close and hard fought. Coach Fiedler is looking forward to a good 1975 season.

GIRL'S FOOTBALL

This year's team of 22 girls were led by Michelle McCabe, Debbie Barker, Kathy Barker on the receiving end, and Deb Genet quarterbacking. This was the first year that they finally got to play even though it was only one game against Medina. The Medina game was a wild one. They lost by one point in the final few minutes. "With new flages and new equipment, the girls will develop a stronger team next year," stated Miss Uhlman."

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

Although the girl's basketball team has lost the majority of games, it is a young team with 3 Seniors, 2 Juniors, and 2 Freshmen. Debbie Barker, high scorer, has set the N-0, school, and court records in scoring, with 34 points during one game and has been averaging 30 points per game. Deb Genet, also a Senior, has returned to help the team.

"Darcy McCloy and Margaret Kraatz, although Freshmen, have proven to be of great help in getting rebounds and guarding. Greta Ramming has done a fantastic job of getting the ball off the backboards," said Miss Uhlman, coach.

This is a young team with a promising future.

We really did learn a lot this year. Like 1. Tammy Chase and Karen Hasenfelt, who know how to wait patiently for lunch. We found out 2. that the best way to get exercise can also be fun, and 3. it takes a special skill to keep an attentive audience. 4. Wendy Ardnt knows a good art project requires time and total concentration, while 5. Mrs. Lanham's class discovers an easy way to make their teacher smile. Rosey Travers and Jeff Uschold 6. know the secret of a good friendship and 7. Paige Beyer practices the art of drawing a perfect chalk cat.

In 208 pages we have tried to show what Roy-Hart is really like (from a student's point of view!). We hope that our theme of "transition" was portrayed effectively and that change in our school and our students is evident. We hope that this continuing transition is for the better.
